SHIPPING.

NOTICE.

THE SHANGHAI STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY will henceforth dispatch a Steamer for the River Ports every Tuesday and Friday morning, on the making of the flood tide, without fail, unless prevented by disabling accident.

The succeeding Steamer will be ready to receive Cargo before the clearing of the Steamer under dispatch, and Merchandize can therefore be shipped on any day at current rates.

Returning—a Steamer will leave Hankow every Wednesday and Saturday morning.

Freight intended for the River and stored in the Company's Godowns can be shipped free of extra case, other than the Tariff Charge for Storage.

Freight by the Company's Steamers from the River can remain in Godown six days, free of charge.

After that time, Storage will be charged at the Tariff Rate; but no charge of coolie hire in landing will be incurred.

At present and until further steamers arrive, built expressly for the traffic, the line will be composed as follows:—

The Kiangse, Captain Berry.
The Pembroke, Captain Perkins.
The Chartered Str. Hankow, Captain Wolcott.
The Surprise, Captain Pendleton.

IMPARTIAL, NOT NEUTRAL.

SHANGHAI, SATURDAY, AUGUST 7, 1862.

ANOTHER tragic scene in the drama of British Relations with Japan, has just been enacted at Yedo. The anniversary of the attack on the British Legation last year has been inaugurated by the sacrifice of English blood to some mysterious influence inimical to foreigners, which has existed from the days of the Japanese Martyrs, recently canonized at Rome. All the display of British power at the open ports on these islands, and of diplomacy at the court of the Tycoon, fails to protect Her Britannic Majesty's representatives from the danger of assassination. One Minister leaves the dreaded spot at the capital of the Japanese Empire, to report upon the unsatisfactory position of the Legation with the hereditary peers of the realm; and no sooner does his successor assume the reigns of office, than a murderous assault is made upon his quarters in the dead of night; two sentinels are killed, and all the members of the Legation, with their military escort deem it prudent to retire from Yedo to Yokohama, where the Ministerplenipotentiary of France has also taken on up his abode.

Such are the events which have transpired since the end of June: events significant of future complications between foreign states and the dominant ruling powers in Japan. The details of this affair are briefly these:—On the night of the 26th June, Colonel Neale, H. B. M.'s Charyés d'Affaires, and the members of the Legation at Yedo were aroused by the report of fire-arms and fighting, where the sentries were posted, close to their sleeping apartments. On reaching the scene of assault they found a corporal of marines weltering in his blood from numerous wounds, and dead, further on a private of the same corps—both belonging to H. M. S. Renard—severely wounded, from the effects of which he died the day after. On inquiry, chiefly of one of the Japanese guard—of whom there were five hundred within the precincts of the Legation—it appears that a man, armed with a formidable pike, was seen creeping towards Colonel Neale's apartment, when he was stopped by the sentry, whereon he made a determined attack on the marine, inflicting twenty-two wounds; he then retreated and encountered the second marine whom he also overpowered and then escaped.

So far the evidence of the Japanese sentry—who it seems neither struck a blow at the assassin, or received one himself—would go to prove that there was only one assailant. This, however, is much doubted, not only from the number of wounds inflicted, but there were sword-cuts on the victims, which could not have been given by a pike. In the affray this weapon was dropped, and on examination discovered to belong to one of the guard—placed by the Japanese government within the premises to protect the Legation. Search being made, the assassin was found to be a soldier of the guard, when he was traced to his house, where he had committed suicide in the Japanese style by ripping himself up, while his person showed the marks of serious wounds, no doubt inflicted by the sentries. The bodies of the murdered men were conveyed to Yokohama, and buried with all the honours due to men who had died in discharge of their duty. There are other features connected with the affair which will be found in the extracts from our contemporary The Japan Herald, published in another part of our columns.

We in China who sympathise with our fellow countrymen of the several nationalities whose representatives are located there, and with whom we are closely allied in our commercial relations, naturally become anxious that this vexed question of deadly hatred to foreigners on the part of the Daimios and their retainers should be solved. Whether this undying enmity arises from old prejudices, or through jealousy of the growing power of the Tycoon, his government, and the people generally, who are favourable to foreigners, is a matter of secondary consideration. What should be clearly determined, is the vital question of the validity of the Treaties we have ratified in all earnestness and good faith, with those functionaries whom we considered as representing the supreme constituted government. They may have deceived us as to their real power, and circumstances which have subsequently come to our knowledge tend to prove it. If such be the case, then the nations interested must show, if necessary by physical force, that the obligations entered into are not to be trampered with. If deception has guided the policy of the wary "Children of the Rising Sun," it is that of the representatives of Western civilization to show them the sacredness and value of Truth; and that any hostile section of their body politic, must not treat foreigners with murderous impunity.

Hitherto our diplomatists have been in a measure over-reached by the double sons of Nipon. Even Lord Elgin was deceived by the suavitor in modo of the negotiators of the treaty. They had apparently reserved points which they never intended to carry out, and such are the postponement of the opening of the richest ports in the Empire. These matters all require re adjustment, and the sooner the Treaty powers do so the better it will be for all parties concerned.

IN our issue of this day will be found some important correspondence concerning the better government of Shanghai, which we commend to the careful perusal of our readers, especially the foreign residents here, and at other ports in China, who may be called upon to exercise their privileges in electing efficient Legislative and Executive bodies. We will revert to the subject in our next issue.

A HIGH distinction and a special mark of Royal favor, most unexceptionably accorded to a foreigner, have, we understand, been conferred, by the King of Portugal, upon Edward Webb Esq., of Shanghai—H.M.F. Majesty's Consul, and the respected head of the firm of Messrs. Dent & Co., in China. We learn that, by a Royal decree, dated the 28th day of April last, His Most Faithful Majesty has been pleased,—viewing the great and honorable services rendered to Portuguese interests in these parts, by Mr. E. Webb,—to honor him with the Knighthood of the Ancient Order of Christ, by appointing him a Knight Commander of that distinguished Order.

As fellow-townsmen of Mr. Webb one of our oldest residents, and whose high qualities we are all so able to appreciate, we can but heartily rejoice at this honourable recognition by the King of Portugal, of His Consul's services here; and we congratulate Mr. Webb warmly on this very unusual mark of approval. We believe that the Commandership of the Order of Christ is only conferred under very peculiar circumstances, and very seldom upon a foreigner, it being the policy of the Government of our ally to confine the reward as much as possible, within the higher ranks of Portuguese dignitaries. Mr. Webb will doubtless, therefore, appreciate the honor as it fully deserves. In these days of prosaic pursuits and of utilitarian achievements, orders, badges and ribands, have by no means disappeared, but are as eagerly sought after, and as difficult to obtain, as in former periods of a less practical tendency. Steam-engines and Armstrong guns have not yet, thank God! destroyed chivalry, or anything pertaining to it. In fact, a reaction appears to have set in; and European Sovereigns are, if possible, more jealous of their privileges, and more guarded in granting real honours, than they were twenty or thirty years ago. The reason for this will be obvious to all. With regard to Mr. Webb's particular case, the Royal distinction bears with it a touching element of interest, as it acknowledges acts of charity, and the relieving of Portuguese distresses; for which the order of Christ appears to have been created as the natural and legitimate reward.

CORRESPONDENCE CONCERNING THE BETTER GOVERNMENT OF SHANGHAI

NOTIFICATION.

British Consulate,
Shanghai, July 30th, 1862.

At the requisition of the Municipal Council, notice is hereby given that a Meeting of Land Renters will be convened, after the departure of the first Mail in September next, for the discussion of a scheme for the better government of the foreign settlement of Shanghai. The day, hour, and place of meeting will be duly notified by further advertisement, and meanwhile the accompanying correspondence in reference to the subject is published for general information.

WALTER MEDHURST,
H. B. M. Consul.

Shanghai, 9th July, 1862.

Sir,—I have the honor by direction of the Municipal Council, to enclose a letter from the Defence Committee for your perusal, and, agreeing as the Council does in the main points therein urged, to intimate to you its wish to have a public meeting of Land Renters convened, to consider the points raised by those gentlemen, as soon after the departure of the first Mail in September as will suit your convenience.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
EDWIN PICKWOAD,
Secy. of Municipal Council.

H. H. Medhurst, Esq.,
H. B. M.'s Consul, Shanghai.

Shanghai, 20th June, 1862.

Gentlemen,—As a Committee appointed by the community for special objects, reaching beyond the range of the usual municipal duties, we have thought that it would perhaps be not unbecoming in us, or unacceptable to you, if, when we resigned our trust, we offered you some suggestions as to the more efficient government of the settlement.

Recent events however constrain us to remain in Committee; nor do we see at present any chance of our being able to retire from the duties we accepted at the request of the community, without neglecting the very objects to promote which the Committee was formed.

We therefore propose now to make these suggestions, and we offer no apology, being aware that it is your view as well as ours, that while precedent guides you to observe and adhere to the regulations upon which your Municipal powers are founded, it is on the contrary, a province to provide for exceptional needs.

The community will recognize the propriety of your acting beyond the prescribed limits, if their special Committee points out that the pressing public urgency of the moment so requires.

It is evident even to a casual observer that the Municipal government of this rapidly growing place is inefficient in one most important particular. Vigilant oversight is wanting in all departments. The Police, the drainage, the removal of offal, the care of the streets, the opening of new avenues, the prevention of encroachments, are all more or less ineffectively cared for, owing to the weakness of the administrative staff. especially in the important matter of drainage, and the building of latrines, this is observable. While the health of the community hangs in the balance, the Council themselves are full of hope for the rapid progress of the place, the improvements proceed at so rapid a pace, that the warm weather, with its harvest of deaths, will have passed, before even one quarter is effectually provided for.

The pass system, by which our streets in winter were kept clear of night prowlers, and the safety of the settlement from fire greatly promoted, has been dropped apparently altogether, with the increase of unwholesome and annoying eddavin in the old streets, and greater number of beggars, shew in those details, less stringent supervision exists than formerly.

We, and the community, are well aware that this arises from no want of zeal and attention on your part in the performance of the onerous duties you have undertaken for the public advantage, and at great cost of time and labor to yourselves.

It is, that the machinery with which you have to work, is not at all adequate to the task before you.

This has become more pressingly apparent within the last few months, than ever before, and the hope that existed, that it was only a temporary pressure, which would disappear as political matters became more settled, and which prevented the agitation of the question at the last General Meeting, can no longer be said to exist.

The community generally recognize now a lasting necessity for a more extensive and expensive Municipal establishment. The office of Secretary to the Municipal Council affords far more work than one person, however active and energetic he may be, can fully discharge.

Money spent in works over which there is not careful supervision is, in a measure, wasted, and in no country more so than in China.

We therefore recommend, not only as a measure of necessity, but as one of economy, the appointment of an Assistant Secretary with an office of Clerks, sufficient in number to transact the business of the Municipality with promptness and thorough efficiency, and we would suggest that the whole of the staff, from the Secretary down, shall give their undivided time and attention to Municipal work and interests.

The expediency of adding to your own body a resident of Hong Kew, whose especial province shall be the care of that important quarter, will press upon your attention.

We propose shortly to hand its financial and other affairs over to you, and we can say from experience that order cannot be maintained there without the especial care of some one competent person.

Having thus expressed our opinions upon the measures which should be taken for present exigencies, it is with some diffidence that we touch upon a matter of much greater importance, inasmuch that it affects the distant future of this settlement and city.

We allude to its future government.

Every year adds to the evidence already existing that our Municipal institutions are imperfect and insufficient, Their authority is questioned constantly, and they are in fact maintained by constant compromises and undignified concessions to individual exactions.

It is most apparent that the system must be revised, and that at an early day.

We think it would accord with the sentiments of the community if you would ask for a Meeting of the Land Renters for the especial object of considering this question, appointing it for a day distant enough to allow of newspaper discussion, and inviting that discussion in your notice to the Renters through the Senior Consul.

The opinions of those who are actually in the management of affairs, and who thus have personal experience of the defects of the existing system, and the needs of the public, will necessarily have much weight, and we trust it will be consistent with your own views to appear before the community with some suggestions for their action.

The plan of a free city, under the protectorate of the four great powers whose interests bring them into close connection with this country, but exercising its own government through its own chosen officers, elected under a system of suffrage, that shall give the controlling power to the owners of property—Chinese and foreign—is that which perhaps is most consonant with public sentiment. A strong government could thus be formed incorporating the city, its suburbs and the tract of country immediately surrounding, into one, and a revenue be raised, and an authority exercised, which would ensure order and safety and make this the chief city of the Empire.

At the last Meeting of the Renters this Committee was empowered to close its affairs, and place them, and any balance of funds in the hands of your honorable body.

But further measures of Defence having been commenced by the military authorities, and finding also that as long as warlike measures of any sort continue, it proves a convenience to refer to a body specially constituted for the purpose, we propose to continue our functions till we are not needed by the public service.

We have the honor to be,
Gentlemen,
Your most Obedient Servants,

EDWARD CUNNINGHAM.
JAS. WHITTALL.
JAMES HOGG.
J. PRIESTLEY TATE.
EDWARD WEBB,
(per H. N. Dent.)

To Messrs. H. Turner, A. Brand, A. Michie, Jas. Cock, H. S. Grew, } Municipal Council.

Council Room, 25th June, 1862.

Sir,—I am directed by the Municipal Council to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 20th instant, and to assure you, in reply, that it has received that careful attention at its hands, which the very important issues it involves, so forcibly demands, and the Board is prepared to ask for a special Meeting of Land Renters, as soon after the return of Her Britannic Majesty's Consul, as may be convenient.

The members of Council entirely concur with the Defence Committee that the "Municipal Government of this rapidly growing place is insufficient," but the Board is satisfied, from its personal knowledge of its various officers, that the defects pointed at in your communication, are to be traced more to the weakness of its own powers, than to the individual shortcomings of its employés.

The Council is anxious that it should be borne in mind, that the Police Force, of late, has been very seriously impaired in its strength. It preferred the inconvenience, and possibly the risk attendant on this state of things, to recruiting the Force from the Mercantile Marine, (an experiment that has proved so disastrous in past times), when the hope of securing the services of good men from the British army, was so near. From this one defect would arise many of the evils referred to by the Committee.

The night pass system, the Council hold to be in full operation, as far as the reduced strength of the Police will permit; and, as evidence of this fact, they see in this day's summary of prisoners, that no less than 16 arrests were made under this head. The Consular records will also afford similar evidence of vigilance. If any laxity is observable in this matter, it may be traced to the withdrawal of the Volunteer Guard at every gate within the settlement, and to the reduced strength of the Police Force already referred to.

Having thus briefly touched upon some of the causes that the Council conceive have operated injuriously to the general good, I am directed by the Board to acknowledge the truth of the views expressed by the Committee of Defence on the main features of the case; and to assure it of its unanimous desire to direct all its energies to inaugurate a system of Government here, more suitable to the wants and better adapted to meet the growing emergencies of this important settlement.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your most obdt. servant,
(Sd.) EDWIN PICKWOAD,
Secy. of Municipal Council.

Ed. Cunningham, Esq.,
Chairman of the Defence Committee.

No. 309.

British Consulate,
Shanghai, July 15th, 1862.

Sir,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated the 9th instant, enclosing, at the request of the Council, a communication addressed to them by the members of the Defence Committee, and acquainting me with their wish to have a Meeting called to consider the questions thus brought to their notice.

I have no objection to issue a notice of Meeting for the discussion of any scheme for the efficient government of this settlement, but, before doing so, I think it advisable to acquaint you, for the information of the Municipal Council, that the plan proposed by the Defence Committee, of making Shanghai a free city, governed by its own officers under the protectorate of the Treaty Powers, is one which the Renters cannot legitimately adopt, seeing that the territory belongs to the Emperor of China, who merely accords to the foreign Powers, that have entered into Treaties with himself, an extra-territorial jurisdiction over their own Citizens resident at this port, but retains for himself all authority over his own territory and subjects. The present system may be extended and improved upon, as I suggested in June 1861 to H. M.'s Minister, by clothing the Council with authority derived from the Emperor, and furnishing it with the means of distributing its responsibilities amongst subordinate and salaried departments, charged with finance, land, petty (native) court, police and other duties. But even this cannot be effected without the consent of the Ministers of the Treaty Powers, supported by the concurrence of the Chinese Authorities.

The independence of the settlement under a constitution and government of its own can only be secured by a grant or charter from the Emperor himself, and I scarcely think he is prepared for such a measure just yet.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most Obdt. Servant,
W. H. MEDHURST,
Consul.

Edwin Pickwoad, Esq.,
Secretary Municipal Council,
Shanghai.

Shanghai, July 20th, 1862.

Sir,—I am directed by the Municipal Council to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th instant, and to inform you that a copy has been forwarded to the Chairman of the Defence Committee.

The Board is well aware that there is no power vested in the Land Renters to carry into effect the suggestions of the Defence Committee respecting a new form of Government for this settlement; nor does it appear from the communication of the last named body, that they expected any such measures to be carried out, except with the concurrence and active co-operation of the Foreign Representatives and the high Chinese Authorities. The meeting of Land Renters is asked for by the Council with a view to a fair and full discussion of the subject preparatory to submitting any proposals to the representatives of the Treaty powers.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your Obedient Servant,
(Signed) A. MICHIE,
Acting Chairman Municipal Council.

H.B.M.'s Consul.

LATER NEWS FROM JAPAN.

"Japan Herald" Office,

Friday, 27th June, 1862, at 1½ p. m.

It is now within a few days only of one year—at the same Japanese festival of the Matsuri, that H. B. M.'s Minister wrote thus—"Last night (July 6) be-"tween 11 and 12 o'clock, the British "Legation was suddenly attacked, and "an entrance effected at several points "simultaneously by armed bands of Ja-"panese"—to-day we place before our subscribers a hurried account of another attack, as far as we can ascertain of a very similar character, upon Her Britannic Majesty's Legation. Colonel Neale H.B.M.'s Chargé d'Affaires, who wrote only a few days since from Yeddo that all was as quiet and apparently as secure at his residence there as possible—now writes from there under the harrowing circumstance of separation by an ordinary Japanese paper window only—from a horrible scene of bloodshed and carnage. We have but little further information than that contained in the Official Notice herewith published. The man whose death had already ensued before the leaving of the messenger, was the Corporal of the Guard (Marines) who was going his rounds, when he was attacked and speared in several places. He managed to reach Colonel Neale's door where he fell and died.

The other man mentioned as seriously wounded is also a Marine guard of H.B. M.'s S. Rena d; he is not expected to survive.

The attack appears to have commenced about one o'clock—the number of the assailants unknown. The first assault being upon the sentry at Col. Neale's door.

The Japanese guard consisted of at least 500 men, none of whom were wounded—which, taken into connexion with the cumbrous character of the weapons used, presents a feature of a very suspicious nature.

The mounted escort it seems, sleep in the Legation building, but as they are not mentioned in our account—and the assailants appear to have escaped scatheless, we presume that they were not aroused until too late to render any aid.

As we write the Renard is steaming up to Yeddo. We hope to be able to place full information before our readers in to-morrow's issue.

As this crisis—considered with the many reports which have lately been circulated, the assurance of H. B. M.'s Chargé d'Affaires, that, so far as he knows or believes, no general or political movements of a hostile nature by which the lives of Her Majesty's subjects in Yokohama are imperilled—is as welcome, as it is gratifying to see evidenced by H. B. M.'s Charge d'Affairs, that regard to their feelings and interest, which in the midst of his own immediate personal peril appears the paramount and most prominent part of his communication.

British Consulate,
Y. kohama, 27th June, 1862.

NOTIFICATION.

The undersigned H. B. M.'s Consul begs to publish the following extract of a Despatch received from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires, for general information.

F. HOWARD VYSE,
H. B. M.'s Consul.

"Whatever may be the personal risks and perils to which Her Majesty's Legation in Yeddo are subjected, I must request you to assure Her Majesty's Subjects in Yokohama that no general or political movements of a hostile nature, as extended to Foreigners at the open Ports, to my knowledge or belief, exist by which their own lives or property are menaced or placed in jeopardy; but should such ever be the case I shall not fail to adopt every measure within my reach for their effectual safeguard and protection.—I have &c.,

E. St. JOHN NEALE.

In order to convey any understanding of this affair we must explain that the Legation Residence is a long low series of buildings attached to a temple, surrounded by a strong bamboo fence nearly twelve feet high;—inside this fence, and between it and the room occupied as the sleeping chamber of Colonel Neale there is a broad piece of artificial water with a bridge running across it—and between this again and the building is the beat of the sentry on guard at that part. The sentry—on this occasion a Marine of the Renard—is accompanied by one of the Japanese guard. It would appear that the greater part of the information we have, has been derived from this Japanese; it is to the following effect; That he observed a man, whom he describes as a 'loonin'—crawling 'on all fours' over the bridge mentioned. The password was demanded by the sentry, and on its being given the man was allowed to pass—he then came up to the Japanese officer—who also challenged him, he again gave the word, but having some doubt, he (the Japanese sentry) raised his lanthorn to look him in the face; immediately upon this the man sprang back and fiercely attacked the English sentry, first with a thrust of a pike in the neck—then cutting at the hand which held the fire-lock and which was nearly severed in two, and also inflicting a severe cut upon the right leg, a cut on the left leg upwards from the knee—and a further cut on the shoulder. The Japanese sentry had by this time drawn his sword and aimed a blow at the assassin, this he warded off with his pike which bears evidence of the will with which it was given, being nearly half cut through. The 'loonin' then wounded the Japanese in the foot with the lower point (or sharp ferrule) of his pike; the lanthorn was extinguished in the scuffle. The Japanese then, thinking he might be mistaken as one of the assailants, went to call his comrades. He then heard a revolver shot, fired as he supposed by the Corporal. The assailant, as soon as he saw the Corporal approach left the sentry, attacked him, inflicting it is said 22 wounds—and causing instant death. The Japanese guards then came up—and in a few minutes some hundreds were gathered upon the spot but the assailant had escaped!! Col. Neale, by this time awoke by the groans of the wounded man, had given the alarm within doors.

At such a moment details which can be gathered—especially under the adverse circumstance of absence from the spot, are necessarily incomplete, and perhaps more or less inaccurate. we can only collate the information together as it can be obtained, and leave for further investigation to reconcile discrepancies—puzzling enough in themselves. How the severe cut-wounds could have been inflicted by one assailant armed with a pike—how he should have become acquainted with the password—how he could unnoticed have effected an entrance into the grounds inclosed in high pallisades—how the three tremendous assaults upon the sentry, the Japanese guard, and the Corporal could have been inflicted by one man without the assembling of the guards, stationed in their guard-houses round the inclosure—how he became possessed of his murderous weapon—which is now in possession of Colonel Neale and bears the same brand or mark as that which distinguishes those with which the guard are armed) are all matters of serious enquiry and deep interest.

There are three other attendant circumstances or coincidences which are highly note-worthy. First—this most villainous attack was made at a time corresponding exactly (in the Japanese date)—almost to the very hour, with that of the former assault at the same Legation. Second—that Wakisakamkatoe-kasa-no, who is known to have said hundreds of Japanese were only waiting for convenient opportunity to whet their swords in the blood of the Foreigner—who is known himself to have no friendly feeling towards them, yesterday became again, for the third time, a member of the Gorogio in the stead of Kadze Yamato; and Thirdly—the fact of the Japanese guard, though their recognition of the necessity of extraordinary vigilance on this recurrence of the anniversary of the former attack was proved by their having pointed out, only the preceding day, to the Legation officials that it was particularly necessary to be on the alert—these circumstances also time may perhaps elucidate.

The sentry died yesterday afternoon from the effects of his wounds.
